

PRESS RELEASE

DATABANK LAUNCHES CHURCH GROWTH ACCOUNT

Databank, Ghana's premier investment bank, has once again introduced another innovative package in the investment space – the Databank Church Growth Account (DCGA).

DCGA is an investment package designed specifically to help churches invest toward projects such as church renovations, maintenance and missionary work among others. The product was officially launched on Monday September 4, 2017.

DCGA combines a Databank mutual fund with other benefits such as free SME clinics, free health screening for church members, free investment seminars, access to loans and provident funds.

According to the Group Chief Marketing Officer of Databank, Mrs. Gillian Hammah, most churches have future projects and activities they wish to embark on to build their church and make it grow. However, there are always issues of inadequate funds to support these aspirations. She stated that “raising funds for church projects is a major concern for many church leaders and DCGA has been created as a simple way to help churches invest towards their projects and activities. DCGA makes funding church projects easier by offering an investment with a proven track record, plus other benefits for church leaders, church workers and church members.”

For over 27 years, Databank has been helping Ghanaians invest toward their future financial goals. DCGA is another first in the investment industry and demonstrates why Databank is known as the industry leader.
