CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT TO SHAREHOLDERS OF DATABANK EPACK INVESTMENT FUND LIMITED

Distinguished Shareholders,

I welcome you to the 20th Annual General Meeting (AGM) of Databank Epack Investment Fund Limited (Epack). It is a pleasure to address you today and to thank you for your continuous support and contribution to Ghana's premier mutual fund, Epack.

Since the Fund's inception, you – our cherished shareholders – have consistently assured us of your confidence in our ability to meet your long-term goal of capital growth. Through our Pan-African investment strategy, Epack has outperformed the GSE in 15 years out of its 22 years of existence.

Overall, 2018 proved quite challenging as the global and domestic economies were characterised with economic policy uncertainties and bearish investor sentiments. These challenges adversely affected the performance of your Fund. Nonetheless, we view the historical performance of Epack as a testament to the competence of our exceptional staff, the effectiveness of Epack's superior pan-African strategy and the ongoing support of you, our esteemed shareholders.

Before providing a detailed account of the Fund's performance, I will commence with an overview of key macroeconomic developments. This will be followed by a review of the trends that affected our performance. I will then report on Epack's performance during the year under review and conclude with our expectations for 2019.

Global economic review

The year 2018 was rife with global market volatility, characterised by record highs and sharp reversals. "Wall Street" concluded a turbulent year on the downside as the major stock indices posted their worst yearly performance since the global financial crisis. The MSCI World Index was down by 8.7% from an impressive 23% recorded in 2017. Expectations about business conditions and investment weakened over the period. The elevated uncertainty in the global economic landscape was driven largely by the US-China trade impasse, US tariff hikes, ongoing Brexit uncertainty and heightened tensions between major trading partners. The World Bank estimates global economic growth to reach 3.0% in 2018, marginally lower than the 3.1% recorded in 2017 due to the heightened volatility in global financial markets and policy uncertainty in the global economy.

Europe's economy expanded at a slower pace than forecasted in 2018. European exports to the rest of the world weakened and higher oil prices dampened incomes. Production capacity was constrained, resulting in a weakened industrial sector and shaken investor confidence that contributed to the lower than expected growth momentum. Growth in Germany, Eurozone's largest economy, was hampered by low automobile production coupled with a decline in external demand, while Italy's economy was faced with weakened industrial production as well as financial market volatility. France, on the other hand, maintained its growth due to export growth.

The growth rate of 2.7% in Sub-Saharan African (SSA) economies was lower than expected in 2018 although higher than the growth rate in 2017 and 2016. The lower-than-expected growth was partially explained by the unfavourable external climate for the SSA region. Financial market pressures heightened in these markets amid a stronger US Dollar coupled with the sluggish expansion in the region's three largest economies, namely Nigeria, South Africa and Egypt. Nigeria was unable to fully exploit the benefits of higher oil prices due to lower oil production, and in South Africa, weak household consumption growth was compounded by a contraction in agriculture. Public debt remained high and continued to rise in some countries. Vulnerability to currency pressures and rising interest rates associated with the changing composition of the debt portfolio threatens the sustainability of the region's public debt.

Ghana's economic review

Overall, Ghana's growth momentum slowed to an average of 6.1% in the first nine months of 2018 compared to an average of 9.1% recorded in the same period in 2017.

The slowdown was underpinned by lower production in the oil sector, the effect of GDP rebasing and the constrained public expenditure as well as banking sector challenges. The ongoing financial sector reforms were reflected in the contraction in the financial and insurance activities sub-sector, suppressing growth in the services sector. The annual growth in private sector credit was 10.6% compared with 13.4% in 2017, which reflects the tighter stance on loans to enterprises during the second half of 2018. These developments resulted in revenue mobilisation challenge, which remained a major constraint to public expenditure.

Mixed price movements in the international commodities market resulted in a larger trade surplus of $1.8b in 2018 up from $1.2b in 2017. This reflected in the narrowing of the current account deficit from 3.4% of GDP in 2017 to 3.2% of GDP in 2018. There was an overall budget deficit of 3.8% of rebased GDP, which was financed through borrowing from both domestic and external sources.

Inflation remained on a downward path in 2018 albeit at a slower pace. Headline inflation declined from 11.8% in December 2017 to 9.4% in December 2018, well within the medium-target band of 6% to 10%. The disinflation path was attributable to the tight monetary policy maintained throughout the year and the downward review of petroleum taxes. Elevated currency pressures resulting in higher export prices together with the effect of tax increases in the second half of 2018 slowed down the pace of disinflation in late 2018.

The cedi's impressive start in 2018 was reversed after first quarter of 2018 as foreign portfolio outflow across Emerging Markets and Developing Economies (EMDEs) undermined currency stability. A higher than anticipated number of hikes in US interest rates supported the global strengthening of the USD and weighed on the appeal of risky sovereign financial assets, resulting in capital market sell offs across EMDEs. The cedi cumulatively depreciated by 8.4% in 2018 compared with 4.9% in 2017.

Yields in the fixed-income market crept upwards at both the short end and medium to long end of the yield curve. The yields on the 91-day and the 182-day Treasury bills moved up from 13.3% and 13.8% in 2017 to 14.6% and 15.0%, respectively, in 2018. The yields on the medium to long term bonds also moved up from an average of 16.5% in 2017 to close 2018 at an average of 21%, reflecting the sharp declines in bond prices during the capital market sell offs in 2018.

The broad macroeconomic outlook however remains positive despite the externally-induced financial market volatility. The passage of the Fiscal Responsibility Act with a 5% limit on the fiscal deficit is expected to enforce fiscal discipline, which is very crucial for sustained macroeconomic stability after the IMF program. With a stable macroeconomic environment, we expect a stronger and more competitive universal banking sector to drive credit expansion and contribute to growth in 2019.

Stock market performance in SSA

The performance of Sub-Saharan equity markets largely trailed expectations in 2018 as concerns about macroeconomic fundamentals, coupled with a hike in U.S. interest rates, culminated in subdued investor patronage of African securities. This notwithstanding, a few markets enjoyed a favourable investment climate and consequently recorded vibrant activity throughout the year. Notable among these was Malawi, which ended 2018 with a return of 34.19%. These gains were however offset by considerable losses in key markets like the French West African Stock Market (BRVM), Tunisia, Kenya and Nigeria.

The Nigerian All Share Index lost 18% in 2018, mirroring the bearish sentiments observed globally amidst perceived political risks in the run up to the Presidential elections (scheduled to take place in February 2019). Nairobi's benchmark index lost 17% in the year 2018 as the bourse closed annual trading on a bearish run, occasioned by an outflow of foreign portfolio investments, which resulted in a dip in stock prices.

The Ghanaian Stock Market closed 2018 in negative territory after peaking at approximately 35% in April 2018 with the GSE Composite Index and the GSE Financial Stock Index posting losses of 0.29% and 6.79% respectively. Overall market breadth was negative with 13 gainers and 18 laggards, while the prices of 16 stocks remained unchanged. The market witnessed broad sell offs following disappointing earnings results, unfavourable external conditions coupled with the high market valuation that ensued from stock price rally of 2017 through first quarter 2018. The market witnessed several corporate actions including an Initial Public Offering (IPO) by telecom giant MTN Ghana, as well as Right and Bonus issues by listed banks to meet the central bank's recapitalization directive.

Epac's performance

Against the backdrop of negative returns both in Ghana and some key African markets, your Fund posted a return of -5.25% in 2018. Notwithstanding the negative return, Epack outperformed the benchmark indices in other African markets such as the Nigerian market (-18%), BRVM (-28%) and Kenya (-18%). Epack, however, underperformed the benchmark index in Ghana (-0.29%). Epack's cumulative return (since inception in October 1996) was 34,188% at the end of 2018. This is about 5.6 times greater than that of the GSE (5,154%) over the same period. The funds under management was GHC 186.32 million by end of 2018 up from GHC 180.33 million at the end of 2017 representing a 3.3% increase. Epack registered an increase in investor base to 101,650 shareholders in 2018.

Distinguished ladies and gentlemen, I would at this point like to acknowledge your invaluable contribution as our loyal shareholders and your unwavering confidence in Epack through the challenging years. You have held fast to our philosophy of long-term investment.

Outlook

The 2019 economic outlook for SSA points to a continuation of the gradual economic recovery experienced in 2018. The pace of recovery might however be slow as challenges from fiscal and external market vulnerabilities persist amid volatile financial markets and rising trade tensions. We further expect the efforts made by countries to improve fiscal management in 2018 – coupled with the expected steady rebound in commodity prices – to result in moderate growth in top economies of Sub-Saharan Africa. On the political spectrum, we expect a mixed risk outlook as moderated political risk in Nigeria is countered by anticipated general elections in South Africa in May 2019. Nigeria's post-elections policy outlook hinges on the pace of fiscal policy implementation and the extent of coordination between fiscal and monetary policy.

On the domestic front, 2019 appears promising with anticipated growth of 7.6% anchored on a projected 6.2% expansion in the non-oil sector. Planned infrastructural development as indicated in the 2019 budget and anticipated credit expansion by the banking sector would be key drivers of growth. Following the clean-up of the banking sector, we expect to see a more robust and competitive banking sector that will drive credit expansion and lead to growth in 2019 across all sectors of the economy in 2019.

Growth from expected increase in oil production should also support overall growth in 2019 as Tullow Oil plans to increase production of oil and gas at the country's two main oil fields: Jubilee and Tweneboa, Enyenra, Ntomme (TEN).

As Ghana approaches the election year in 2020, the market could become edgy about the macroeconomic outlook without an IMF constraint and this could start to undermine investment decisions from late 2019. We are however hopeful that the legislative cap of 5% on fiscal deficit, the fiscal council and the continuation of zero central bank financing of budget deficit in 2020 would ensure fiscal restraint and preserve macroeconomic stability.

We expect prudent monetary policy to limit any potential upside risks to inflation from fiscal expansion in 2019. The renewed upward pressure on petroleum prices and the sharper-than-expected depreciation of the Ghana Cedi in early 2019 however pose upside risks to inflation. We therefore expect Treasury yields to remain in double digits for most part of 2019.

There is renewed hope in Ghana's stock market in 2019 as investors anticipate stronger corporate earnings on improved margins, in view of softening cost pressures and improving macroeconomic environment. With the completion of the banking sector clean-up, banking stock prices are expected to witness a recovery in 2019 as sentiments around the banking sector are set to improve following the completion of last year's recapitalisation exercise.

Closing remarks

Considering the positive outlook for Ghana and moderate prospects for SSA in 2019, I believe your Fund is well positioned to yield competitive returns to support us as shareholders to grow our wealth. I am assured by our excellent track record of risk management and sustainable value creation during periods of economic uncertainties. Our proactive approach will enable us to provide you with sustainable risk-adjusted returns over the long term.

As I conclude, permit me to reaffirm our commitment to delivering long-term value, while we count on your continued patronage in the foreseeable future. We will continue to strategically position your Fund as Ghana's prime equity mutual fund.

I wish you a fulfilling and blessed year.

Thank you.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT TO THE MEMBERS OF DATABANK EPACK INVESTMENT FUND LIMITED

We have audited the Financial Statements of Databank Epack Investment Fund Limited, which comprise the Statement of Financial Position as at December 31, 2018, and the Statement of Comprehensive Income, Statement of Changes in Equity and Statement of Cash Flows for the year then ended, and notes to the Financial Statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies as set out on pages 20 to 31.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Fund as at December 31, 2018 and its financial performance and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) and in the manner required by the Companies Act, 1963 (Act 179), the Securities Industry Act, 2016 (Act 929), and the Unit Trusts and Mutual Funds Regulations, 2001 (L.I. 1695).

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Independence

We are independent of the Fund in accordance with the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (IESBA Code) and we have fulfilled our ethical responsibilities in accordance with the IESBA Code.

Key audit matters

Key Audit Matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the Financial Statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the Financial Statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Impairment of Financial Assets

The impairments of Financial Assets are considered to be of most significance in the audit due to the level of subjectivity inherent in estimating the impact of key assumptions of the recoverability of investment balances, including the application of industry knowledge and prevailing economic conditions in arriving at the level of impairment allowance required.

Databank Epack Investment Fund Limited has adopted IFRS 9 Financial Instruments which became effective on January 1, 2018. For the Fund, the key change arising from the adoption of IFRS 9 Financial Instruments was that impairment losses on financial assets are now based on an Expected Credit Loss (ECL) model rather than an incurred loss model, with the most significant impacts on investment of Financial Assets at Amortised Cost.

The determination of impairment allowance using the ECL model requires the application of certain financial indices which are estimated from historical financial data obtained within and outside the Fund, into the complex financial models.

Impairment allowance on Financial Assets at Amortised Cost that have shown a significant increase in credit risk, is based on the Fund's best estimate of losses expected to result from non-recoverability events over the life of the Financial Assets. Impairment allowance on other Financial Assets that have not shown a significant increase in credit risk is recognised based on an estimate of the losses expected to result from default events within 12 months. Epack incorporates forward-looking information into both the assessment of whether the credit risk of an instrument has increased significantly since its initial recognition and measurement of ECL.

The Directors recognized an expected credit loss of GHC 263,593.

The judgement involved in classifying Financial Assets into stages, the level of subjectivity inherent in estimating the key assumptions on the recoverability of investment balances, the inputs estimated, the complexity of the estimation process and the significant judgement involved in applying these estimates to determine the level of impairment allowance required, make the impairment of Financial Assets a matter of significance to the audit.

The measurement of impairment allowance is deemed a Key Audit Matter as the determination of assumptions for expected losses is highly subjective due to the level of judgement applied by the Directors. The most significant judgements are: classification of Financial Assets into stages; the level of subjectivity inherent in estimating the key assumptions on the recoverability of investment balances; timely identification of exposures with significant increase in risk; the complexity of the estimation process and the significant judgement involved in applying these estimates.

How the matter was addressed in our audit:

We evaluated the design and implementation of the key controls over the impairment determination process such as Investment Committee review of Financial Assets. The key controls evaluated covered processes such as management review of relevant data used in the calculation of expected credit losses.

- We tested the appropriateness of the Fund's determination of significant increase in credit risk and the resultant classification of Financial Assets into the various stages.
- We evaluated the appropriateness of the accounting policies based on the requirements of IFRS 9 and industry practice.
- We assessed the transition adjustment that was recognized in the opening retained earnings at January 1, 2018.

Other information

The Directors are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises Corporate Information, Report of the Directors, Chairman's Statement to Unitholders, Performance Summary and Custodian's Report, but does not include the Financial Statements and our Auditor's Report thereon.

Our opinion on the Financial Statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the Financial Statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the Financial Statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work that we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, then we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Directors for the Financial Statements

The Directors are responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these Financial Statements in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of Financial Statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the Financial Statements, the Directors are responsible for assessing the Fund's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Directors either intend to liquidate the Fund or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Directors are responsible for overseeing the Fund's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the audit of the Financial Statements

The objectives of our audit are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Financial Statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the planning and performance of the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the Financial Statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Fund's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Fund to cease to continue as a going concern.

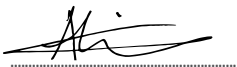

We are required to communicate with the Board regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Report on other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

The Ghana Companies Act, 1963 (Act 179) requires that in carrying out our audit work we consider and report on the following matters.

We confirm that:

- we have obtained all the information and explanations which to the best of our knowledge and belief were necessary for the purposes of the audit;
- in our opinion, proper books of account have been kept by the Fund, so far as appears from the examination of those books;
- the Fund's Financial Statements are in agreement with the books of account.

2. BASIS OF PREPARATION

2.1 Statement of compliance

The Financial Statements have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB).

2.2 Basis of measurement

The Financial Statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis except for financial instruments that are measured at fair value, as explained in the accounting policies below. 2.3 Basis of consolidation

The Fund is an investment entity and, as such, is not required to own controlling interest in other entities. Instead, financial interests are classified as available for sale and measured at fair value.

3. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

3.2 Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognised to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Fund and the revenue can be reliably measured, as and when the Fund satisfies a performance obligation.

Under IFRS 15, the revenue recognition process involves:

- Identification of the contract with the customer,
- Identification of performance obligation in the contract,
- Determination of the transaction price,
- Allocation of the transaction price to the performance obligation in the contract,

Fees and commissions are recognised on an accrual basis. Fees and commission expenses are included in general and administrative expenses.

3.3 Taxation

The dividend income and capital gains are subject to withholding tax deducted at the source of the income. Withholding tax is a generic term used for the amount of withholding tax deducted at the source of the income and is not significant for the Fund. For the purpose of the statement of cash flows, cash inflows from investments are presented net of withholding taxes, when applicable.

Under the current legislation, mutual funds are not subject to taxes on income or capital gains, nor to any taxes on income distributions.

3.4 Foreign currencies

In preparing the Financial Statements of the Fund, transactions in currencies other than the Fund's functional currency (foreign currencies) are recognised at the rates of exchange prevailing at the dates of the transactions. At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at that date. Exchange differences on monetary items are recognised in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.
